

Appendix B: Second Interview with client

Me: Good morning. When we met the last time, you told what the program wanted me to do. Now I have made the prototypes of the different pages and I want you to look at them to make them final so that I can start with the programming.

Client: Okay, let's do it.

Me: So, I'll show you this word document. Here, I've made all the screens and you can let me know anything which you want me to change.

Client: Okay.

Me: So, these are all the pages, just see them and let me know your thoughts.

Client: Yeah.

So, these are nice and they'll fulfill my needs. However, can you make the graph on a new frame instead of the same one? Also, I don't need the add new stock page. I just want these items in the stock: baking powder, baking soda, oil, flour, condensed milk, whipped cream, cocoa powder, sugar and butter. If I want to add items in the future, I'll ask you to add them through an update.

Me: Sure, I'll do that.

Client: The rest are fine. They'll do the job.

Me: Okay, I'll make the changes, and send you the screenshots.

Client: Okay, thank you.

Me: No problem! Have a nice day. I'll send you the new prototypes as soon as possible.

Client: Sure, you too.
